Summer Fun Hears up at Pierce College

July is sizzling in Woodland Hills, and Pierce College is alive with summer camp energy. From science experiments to basketball drills, the campus has become a hub of fun, learning, and community engagement.

Kids fill the courts and classrooms for basketball, tennis, and science camps, making the most of the summer sun. A highlight for many campers is when the Community College Bureau (CCS) personnel stop by to join a friendly round of “knockout,” bringing smiles and building positive connections with the community.

Safety remains a top priority. Camp staff recently met with CCS personnel to review best practices, including basic first-aid tips and heat safety guidelines, ensuring every camper enjoys a safe and memorable experience.

With laughter echoing across the campus and dedicated staff keeping a watchful eye, Pierce College’s summer programs continue to be a bright spot in Woodland Hills July heat.

Los Angeles Southwest College

The month of July was one of the more uneventful months of the year. Faculty and staff were still recovering from the numerous graduations and the end of academic year that occurred in June. Los Angeles Southwest College did use this time as an opportunity to continue the numerous construction projects on site. The Student Union building is coming along beautifully. The elevators at Lot 4 and the football field are also being repaired. The biggest hiccup that has occurred is trying to get rid of my resident coyotes. Hopefully, they will have found a new home by the beginning of the fall semester.
